The preponderance of opinion is that the country is disappointed over the tariff bill and over the corporation tax. President Taft is being criticised for his part in forcing the corporation tax into the bill in lieu of the income tax. Scores of members, from widely separated sections report that people arbeginning to wonder how soon Colonel Roosevelt will come back from Africa They seem to have a vague notion that there'll be "something doing," politically, after he comes home. From a New England member came the in formation that before going away Mr. Roosevelt confided to friends that on his return he should take a swing about the country, going clear to the Pacific, and coming back by another route, crossing a majority of the States in the union on the grand tour.

And somehow there is a feeling "out in the provinces" according to the incoming representatives, that that trip will be highly important and signifi-

There is, indeed, no end of talk about Roosevelt among the people back from the provinces. It is plain enough, as one talks in Washington with men who are looked upon as presidental possibilities for some time in the future that they consider that their chances are rather unimportant. The impression among them is that "after Taft, Roosevelt." They intimate rather a discouraged feeling about trying to get into the serious presidential class. It is looked upon as being foreclosed to everybody outside of Taft and Roosevelt for an indefinite period. There is calculation that if Mr. Taft shall be President eight years, Mr. Roosevelt will still be a young man, and as likely as not sufficiently rested up to try another turn at the job. Reports are brought back to Washington that there are beginning to develop a remarkable number of local political contests in States and Congrees districts of the largest potential significance, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconein, the Dakotas, Oregon and Washington are all to be storm
